A Great University At Chapel Hill

THE University of North Carolina has a proud heritage. It is a distinguished academic institution nesting in a unique community, often called "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

The University's enrollment is approximately 12,000 — and within 10 years it is expected to soar to almost 20,000.

It is the oldest state university in the United States, first admitting students in 1795, when George Washington was president.

It was closed only once — a five-year span from 1870-75 after the Civil War.

There are 14 schools and colleges, including more than 70 departments and numerous other divisions.

The Morehead Planetarium on campus helps train the astronauts.

Thanks to 171 years of planning, the campus is considered one of the most beautiful anywhere.

Its alumni are many. Thomas Wolfe, the great novelist, schooled here. Chapel Hill is recognized as a literary haven.

An integral part of the University is the Division of Health Affairs, a six-fold medical-dentistry-public health complex which includes the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

Jimmy Beatty, a trackman of the 1950's, was the first American to break the four-minute mile barrier.

Young and beautiful Penny Clark, a sophomore, is Miss North Carolina.

In athletics, Carolina won its first National Championship in basketball in 1924 with a 23-0 record. In 1957, the Tar Heels again rated the top spot with a 32-0 mark.

There are more than 1,000 faculty members, many of the professors of international stature. But perhaps the most famed "professor" is Kay Kyser, a Chapel Hill resident, the original "Old Professor of Musical Knowledge."

The main part of the campus is composed of more than 1700 acres. Much additional acreage is available for predicted expansion.

A distinction is the fact that more scholars from other colleges and universities in the South chose the University at Chapel Hill as their first choice to attend—when awards are made by the Southern Fellowship Fund.

During World War II, the University provided a base and many instructors for the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School.

The University has its own on-campus radio and television stations.

James Knox Polk, a graduate in the class of 1819, became the 11th President of the United States.

Thirty of North Carolina's 49 Governors have been graduates of the University at Chapel Hill.

More than 90,000 students have walked Chapel Hill's traditional paths since the school's founding.

The University, in addition to a complete undergraduate and program of graduate and professional studies, also has certain special programs which have won more than ordinary renown. These include the Institute of Government, an organization providing special opportunity for study, training and research in grass roots government and for state government; the Carolina Playmakers; the Institute for Research in Social Science; the Morehead Planetarium; the Ackland Art Museum; the Psychometric Laboratory; the Institute of Fisheries Research (located at Morehead City); the University of North Carolina Press and the Institute of Statistics.

Stars Among The Tar Heels

This year shouldn't be compared with last for individual talent. The squad could very well be a fine one, but it simply doesn't have the proven stars — the Willards, the Keslers, the Hanburgers, the Gallaghers — of last season.

DANNY TALBOTT
No. 10—Quarterback

Some individuals do stick out. Danny Talbott at quarterback would be one of these. Talbott performed brilliantly in two games before an injury erased his star billing. If he measures up to the form he presented against Michigan State and Wake Forest, he'll be one of the nation's best backs.

Talbott doesn't have blinding speed, the best arm in football or power to run over folks. What he does have is an uncanny knack of doing the right thing. He's a scrambler with thrill-a-minute moves. He knows the game of football and he is quick to seize opportunity against a foe's weakness.

Danny can kick with outstanding accuracy in field goal situations. A pulled leg muscle eliminated him from the duty last fall. He will be counted upon in this capacity this year. Talbott, too, can romp on defense. But don't expect to see him go two ways.

Joe Fratangelo is a compactly built athlete with the getaway of a hot rod. He moves out like a sprinter and is extremely difficult to block. He's tough as a good guard must be and he takes great pride in pulling down halfbacks. Joe could be one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's brightest line prospects.

Bo Wood secured valuable experience last year as a sophomore and in spring drills he turned in some masterful defensive plays at end. He is up to a strong 227 in weight. He moves well. Keep an eye on the defensive left end. That's hard Wood in action.

BO WOOD
No. 81—End

The backfield must prove itself, since few of the combatants have extended experience. At times, Max Chapman looks as if he could place in the Kentucky Derby with his slick stride. Bud Phillips has great hands and moves on the wing.

Hank Sadler, veteran tackle, should be a standout. The ends shape up as mighty good defensively and offensively.

Jay Malobicky must carry a big load since he has been switched to a linebacker. His performance could be a key to the season.

Watch for some bright performances from sophs and players of limited background. A reiteration: it's not quite like 1964 — but there are some talented gridders on the squad.

Coach Jim Hickey and his staff are pleased with the new substitution rules, which allow a complete team to be entered when the ball changes hands. Carolina players are taught to play offense or defense. This means a two-team system.

Among the 18 returning lettermen are Guards Charlie Davis, Ron Kaplan and John Harmon and Center Ed Stringer who will be of sizable importance. Among the 19 graduated stars, the biggest losses are Linebackers Chris Hanburger and Richy Zarro, Tackle Frank Gallagher and Backs Gary Black, Ron Jackson, Ed Kesler and Ken Willard.

College Football Crowds Show All-Time High

COLLEGE FOOTBALL reached a record high in attendance in 1964, attracting a total of 23,354,477 spectators.

The figures, issued by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, showed an increase of 1,117,383, or 5.02 per cent, over the 1963 total.

Both previous highs were set last year, when 22,237,094 turned out, an increase of 4.76 per cent over 1962.

Ohio State's seven-game home attendance last year was 583,740, a new record. Crowds at Illinois and Iowa brought the year's total to 713,667. Home crowds ranged from 80,737 for Southern Methodist to 84,685 for Michigan. Ohio State has led the nation in home attendance in 18 of the last 21 years.

It was the 11th straight year that crowds at college football games were on the upswing. During that time the attendance climbed 40 per cent over the 16,681,731 in 1953.

This last season, 622 four-year colleges fielded football teams — six more than in 1963 — and they played 59 more games than in 1963.

The top 100 attendance teams in 1964 drew an average of 1,516 more per game than did the top 100 in 1963.

Attendance increases were spread all over the country, with nine of the 11 major conferences showing gains. Three of those conferences, the Big Ten, Big Eight and Southeastern set records for average attendance per game.

The Big Ten headed the list, averaging 58,780 fans for its 49 games. The Southeastern was next with a 37,880 average for 68 home games. Then came the Big Eight with a 36,332 average for 39 games.

Two conferences showed attendance drops. They were the Southern, down 1.7 per cent, and the Southwest, down 7.19 per cent from 1963.

The Atlantic Coast Conference enjoyed the biggest jump, a 16.19 per cent increase. The second strongest surge was by the Mid-American Conference, which soared 14.2 per cent over its 1963 average.

College of Commerce and Administration

IN recognition of the need for an expanded program of education for business and in the academic disciplines closely associated with commerce and administration, the Ohio State University College of Commerce and Administration was established in 1916.

Included in the college are four administrative divisions, research, continuing education, administration and auxiliary services; five instructional departments; accounting, business organization, economics, geography and sociology and anthropology, and the School of Social Work.

Headed by Dean James R. McCoy, the college awards the undergraduate degrees, bachelor of science in business administration and bachelor of science in social welfare, as well as masters and Ph.D. degrees.

The objectives of the college is to provide education in the business and social sciences, including those cultural, educational and training values that furnish a foundation for leadership in any area of the social sciences.

Supporting the college's teaching and research program is a 50,000-volume commerce library. The collection includes professional books; sets of important American and foreign business and economic journals; weekly services on labor, personnel, finance and taxes; texts; corporation financial statements; and a large collection of pamphlet material and reference works in the field of business and economics.

The college's division of research provides organized facilities for research activities of both faculty and graduate students. Included in the division are the Bureau of Business Research, the Behavioral Sciences Laboratory and the Center for Community and Regional Analysis.

The need for adult education is met by the college in its division of continuing education, which organizes each year a series of business management institutes and conferences as well as programs of the Labor Education and Research Service, Institute of Accounting, and Defense Management Center.

To assist students and alumni to utilize their education, experience and ability, the college operates a Placement Office where some 14,000 visits are made annually by students, alumni, employers, faculty, parents and others seeking assistance on placement matters.

The official student organization of the college is the Commerce Council which acts to advance the interests of the college and the welfare of its students through representative student government.

PENNY EDWARDS—"MISS TIPARILLO"

What does she mean "cigars...cigarettes...Tiparillos"?

You'll be hearing that chant more and more—now that Tiparillos have arrived. And arrived they have. In all the right places. With all the right people.

The new Tiparillo has a neat, trim shape. It looks young and debonair. And its pearly, pliable tip pays more than lip service to your smoking pleasure.

And never before such mildness! The most careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos has seen to that. So, too, has the exclusive, veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

You can even see the mildness. The surprisingly whiter ash is visible evidence. Smoker's proof. Here is flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy.

"Cigars . . . cigarettes . . . ?" Who knows, maybe someday it will be just "Tiparillos!"

Why don't you ask for one today?

"OFFICIAL WATCH FOR THIS GAME — LONGINES — THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH"

In 1963, we called Riviera "America's bid for a great new international classic car."

If imitation is any sign, we were pretty good prophets.

There are a lot of rough copies of Riviera on the road these days. (Even some of the cars made across the seas are straining to look like our Riviera.) And it flatters us. It seems our prediction has come true. Riviera is America's great international classic car. And it also seems to us that you would greatly prefer to own an original, not a counterfeit. Mainly because if you do settle for one of the imitations, you'll be nagged by doubts. "Wouldn't Riviera's Super Turbine transmission do a better job of easing me through that traffic jam?" "Would Riviera's plush bucket seats and squishy carpets and eye-soothing instrument panel make me feel more relaxed after a long trip?" "Would Riviera's incredible suspension and steering do a better job on that tight corner?" There is only one way to forestall these bothersome thoughts. Ask yourself first—"Wouldn't I really rather have America's one and only international classic car?"

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

How do athletes handle athlete's foot?

They follow their trainers' advice and use Desenex® for prevention and treatment

It's excellent protection against itching, cracking and irritation of Athlete's Foot. Helps prevent spreading, too. No wonder Desenex is the Athlete's Foot treatment most widely used by college football trainers.

We know you don't have a trainer to keep you on your toes. But that's no reason to suffer from Athlete's Foot. Start using Desenex yourself. Avoid Athlete's Foot problems with Desenex Powder or new, cooling Desenex Aerosol—and for treatment use Desenex Ointment. Desenex is guaranteed to work or your money back.

The perfect lie

A golfing story with a front yard moral

A perfect lie is a lovely thing. The ball sits right up there, just begging to be smacked. And it's not entirely a question of skill or luck. More than anything, a lie depends upon the turf.

If it's too soft, the ball sinks. If it's too long or bumpy, the ball hides. That's why golf people are intrigued with WINDSOR. The new grass mutation develops sturdier roots and a thicker, more regular top. It promises a perfect lie anywhere from tee to green, from one side of the fairway to the other.

If WINDSOR can do all this for a golf course, think what it can do for a lawn. It loves heat. It can maintain its deeper green color with less moisture. (It took this year's drouth in stride.) And because of its density and strong lateral growth, weeds have less chance.

WINDSOR was discovered, developed and patented by Scotts, the same people who make Turf Builder® — the only company that devotes itself exclusively to making better lawn products.

Facts-of-life about Windsor for the technically minded

WINDSOR is a mutant of Poa pratensis. It reproduces asexually by apomixis, with progeny true-to-type. Chromosome count is double that of common bluegrass and greater than that of any other variety. Plant patent No. 2364.

GIVE IT EVERY- THING YOU'VE GOT!

That's what wins football games. That's what takes a man all the way to the top, whatever his field of endeavor. If you've got what it takes to be that kind of man . . . if you have the chance to take ROTC, make what you've got count. Go for an Army commission. That way, come commencement, you'll have two good things going for you: your college degree, and the gold bars that mark you a leader of men . . . tested, trained, trusted.

GET IN- STAY IN ARMY ROTC!

*Oh! come let's sing Ohio's praise
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill
With joy which death alone can still
Summer's heat or winter's cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll:
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship — OHIO*
